ABSTRACT

Over 70 historic sites, outreach programs, teaching aids, publications, and media presentations appropriate for elementary and secondary school instruction in Illinois history, government, and natural resources are listed. Items are categorized by the Illinois state department or museum which makes the information available: Illinois Department of Conservation, Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources, Illinois Historical Society, Illinois State Board of Education, Illinois State Museum, Springfield Convention and Visitors Bureau, and Western Illinois University. Resources include 16 historic sites and living museums; periodicals on government, Indians, pioneers, and Abraham Lincoln; slide tapes of the historic old state capitol; videotapes which explain the Illinois state government and constitution; mineral and rock collections; and booklets on the flora and fauna of Illinois. Annotations describe each item, appropriate grade level, subject area, and contact names and addresses. (XC)

It was developed for curriculum planners, including teachers. 177pp. (free)

SLIDE TAPES

The Historic Old State Capitol

This synchronized slide tape program takes the student on a field trip through the Old State Capitol. All the slides are shot from a student's eye level. The slide tape was developed to prepare students for a visit to the Old State Capitol in Springfield.

For either publication or the slide tape program contact: Ann Pictor, Illinois State Board of Education, 100 North First Street, Springfield, Illinois 62777.

VIDEOTAPES

Framework Series (1976)

This series helps to explain the Illinois State Constitution of 1970 and the primary functions of Illinois State Government. It is extensively visualized with motion picture film, slides, and graphic art. Dramatic vignettes are also used in several of the programs which were produced by the Illinois State Board of Education Television Section. Framework is a series of 15 14-minute videotapes.

Program Titles and Summaries:

1. The Political Environment

   All societies and complex groupings of individuals and associations have needs which sometimes interrelate and sometimes conflict. Different levels of government serve them; they are the political environment.

2. The Law and the Land

   The history of Illinois was shaped in large part by geography. From it grew the laws which regulated and apportioned use of the land.

3. The Lawmill

   This program shows a state legislature, such as the Illinois General Assembly, in which general constitutional provisions become more specific statutes.

4. Between the Ballot and the Bill

   Electing state Senators and Representatives from Illinois' 59 legislative districts carries a feature no other state uses: cumulative voting.

5. The People's Managers

   Some government officials are elected. Others are appointed. A dramatization in this program shows a clash of opinion between an appointed administrator and a state senator.

6. The Governor

   The Governor of Illinois is the state's chief elected official. He or she is commander of the state militia, voice of the state's citizens, chief of a political party organization, and even the state's chief legislator.

7. Of Judges and Justice

   This program explains Illinois' judicial system which consists of Circuit Courts, Appellate Courts, and the State Supreme Court.

8. The State and the School

   Education is not mentioned in the U.S. Federal Constitution. It has traditionally been a local responsibility; but now the operation and support of schools are becoming shared responsibilities and are included in the Illinois Constitution.

9. Money and Government

   Taxes and authorized debt are major sources of income for the State of Illinois, but so is money from the federal government.

10. The State Bill of Rights

    Article I of the 1970 Illinois State Constitution is a Bill of Rights. It includes some guarantees which are not in the Federal Bill of Rights.

11. Opportunity

    Equal opportunity and individual dignity are two principles emphasized in the Illinois Constitution's Preamble and Article I.

12. The Voter

    The federal government does not hold elections. Federal officials are chosen in elections held and supervised by the states. Thus, the Illinois State Constitution has much to say—in Article III—about elections and suffrage.

13. The Symbol

    Flags are the principal official symbols of governments. This program details some of the legal requirements on display of the U.S. national flag and the Illinois state flag.

14. The Local Governments

    Each of Illinois' four units of local government are discussed.

15. Pollution Politics

    The Constitution of the State of Illinois labels a clean environment as a right of each citizen. It is an enforceable right.

A Look at Lincoln (1975)

Drawn from Abraham Lincoln's own writings, this program recreates parts of three periods of his life: as storekeeper and lawyer, as political campaigner, and as war-weary president. Lincoln is played by Lincoln scholar Richard Blake. This program was produced in cooperation with Eastern Illinois University. NBR

The program can be used with junior/senior high school students. There are two versions of the program. The original is 46 minutes 11 seconds and the other is an edited version which is 28 minutes 50 seconds.

A Part of This (1976)

This program characterizes the struggle that has shaped modern Illinois. Beginning with the early French settlement at Fort DeChartres, the story line follows human interaction with the heartland environment.

Audience: junior/senior high school. The program is available on videotape or 16mm. It is 28 minutes and 30 seconds long.

Something Proud to Look At (1974)

"Something Proud to Look At" is about the cultural and humanistic works of the people of Illinois from the native Indians to modern people. Completed in historical order, the program covers Illinois history through its agriculture, industry, and art.

Audience: junior and senior high school students. The program is 16 minutes and 14 seconds.

A Capitol Idea (A Program on Illinois' State Capitol)

This program begins with historical photographs and modern film footage of the Old State Capitol illustrating why and how the current capitol was built. Various government offices located within the capitol are featured, including the Treasurer, Comptroller, Secretary of State, and the Governor. The State Legislature is also discussed. This program is appropriate for junior and senior high school students. It was produced to prepare students for a field trip to Springfield and is 13 minutes in duration.

Voting Is Not a Spectator Sport

This 12-minute videotape or 16mm film was designed to motivate 18-year-old students to register and vote. It outlines the minimal requirements for voting in Illinois and illustrates the three major methods of voting: paper ballot, punch card ballot, and voting machines.
